

I've been asked many times about lodging on Mt. Desert Island while your child is with us. Your best bet for information and the best price is to try Hotels.com or Expedia.com or some other travel search engine. Though I'm unable to list all of the options here, this should give you a good head start. Some will not start taking reservations until May but then it's important to book it before the summer gets going since they do fill, especially after July 4. This list is not an endorsement but rather for information so be sure to read reviews before you go.
